compiled March 2007

brother of
Henry Hoggarth born 1806emigrants to the USA

¶ These children emigrated to the United States at various times. Indeed the whole family sailed from Liverpool to New York aboard the Ship Lady Franklyn in June 1853. Some evidently returned to England. In the 1855 Census for Albion, Orleans County, New York, Jane and Margaret are boarding with families. Michael is farm labouring in Murray, Orleans County.

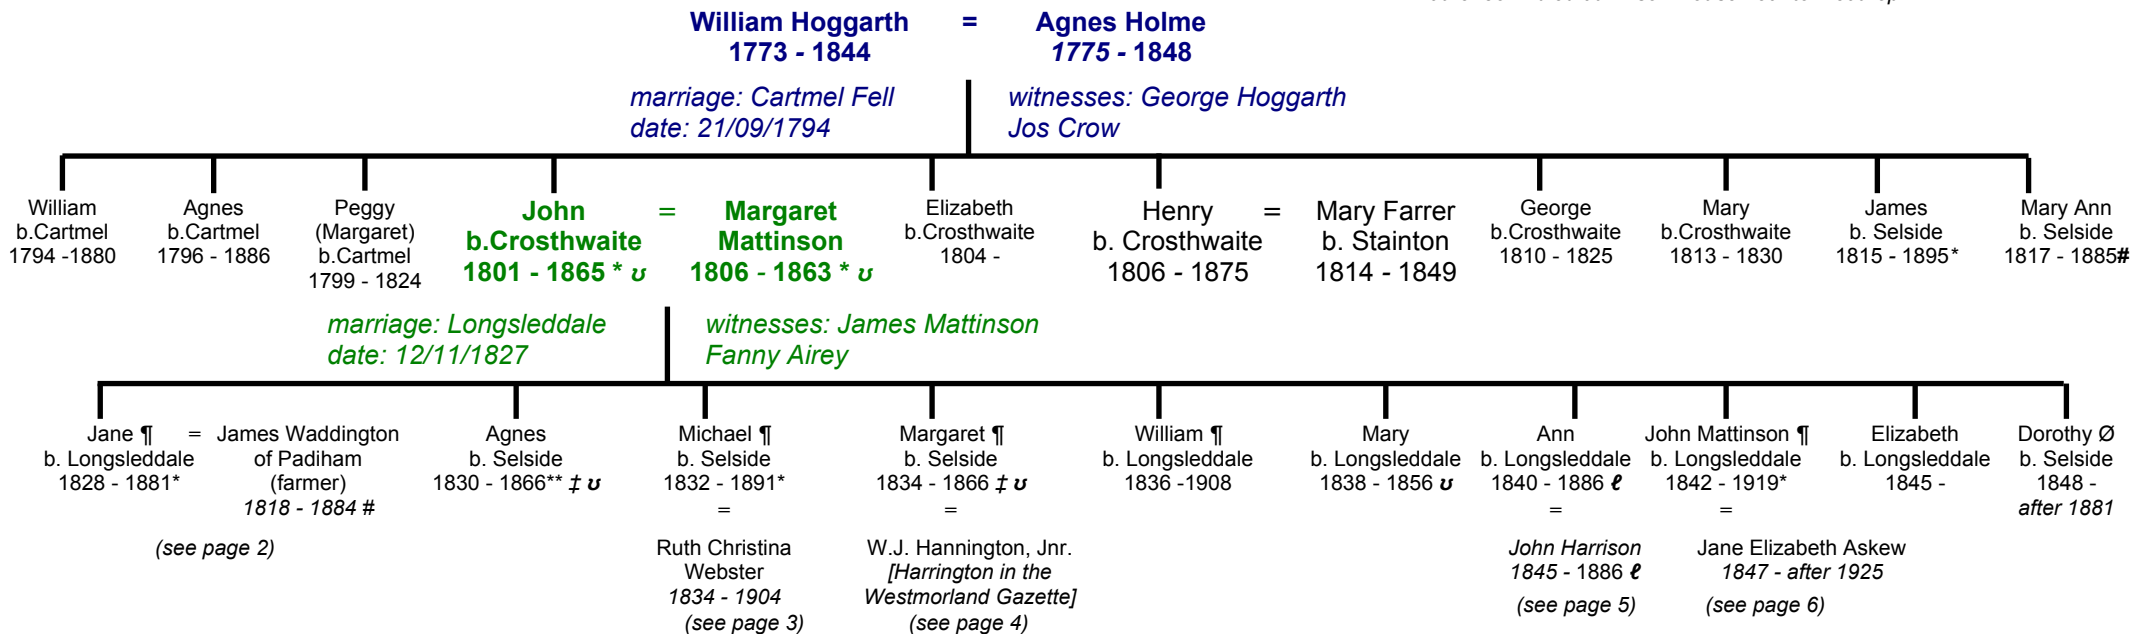

The 1861 Census shows that William is in England with his parents, farming at Meathop Hall. His sisters Agnes and Ann are also at home. John Mattinson is a visitor at Overthwaite, the farm of his father's cousin, Nancy Bell. Jane must have returned for she marries a farmer from Padiham in 1867. The Westmorland Gazette states that Margaret died at Meathop Hall. Two years later John died at Wilson House..

In the 1865 Census for Albion, William and John M. are living with their newly married sister (named Margaret Hannington) who has a two year old daughter, Dora. Michael Hoggarth is living in Barre, Orleans County, New York, married to Ruth C. and they have a 9 month old son, John A. Hogarth.

John M. shortly returned to England because in 1867 he was a witness at his sister Jane's wedding and in the 1871 he is a farmer of 200 acres at Blawith Cottage, Broughton East. His sisters, Anne and Dora [sic] are living in with him.

In the 1875 Census for Albion, William Hannington appears to have a new wife, Jane, and sister-in-law, Mary Mattinson, is living with them. Michael and Ruth C., also living in Albion have two sons John W. and Warren W. William is also listed as a farmer and appears to be single

In the 1892 Census for Albion, the widowed Ruth is listed along with 14 year old Katie. William is again listed as a farmer. The 1900 Federal Census indicates that William arrived in America in 1865. This is the same year that his father John died at Wilson House near to Meathop.

§ Grandfather Joseph Askew
born in Leece 1817/8Δ this and other information from the website: barlowgenealogy.com

Grandfather studied at Didsbury College & became a Wesleyan minister, then a Congregational minister at Bristol and at London while in England. He starting preaching when he was still pre-teen or an early teen in Madeley, Shropshire while apprenticing for a dry goods owner. His father paid two years for the training and my grandfather didn't start earning money until that time was over. (I don't know why he left the farm in Wilderhope)

Reverend John Barlow came to the USA via Montreal, Canada and Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan in 1911. He moved to Brooklyn, New York in 1912 & was soon named pastor of the Park Slope Presbyterian Church.

Note: My great grandfather, John Mattinson Hog(g)arth came to this side of the ocean some time between 1879 and 1888. His wife and daughter were living in England with his wife's brothers in the census of 1881. I don't know why he would leave his wife and daughter in England. In fact, when his wife Jane E. Hoggarth came to America in 1890/1891, Dora was found in the census of 1891 in England with one of her two uncles. John M. Hoggarth was the first Marshall of Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan and made a Declaration of Intention to become a citizen in 1888. He worked on the Lock in Canada before that. His obituary even said he came to New York when he was 17 to work on a farm with one of his brothers. He married his wife in England in 1871, so he must have traveled by and forth across the Atlantic Ocean quite a bit.
